

History of the Indian Sign – 1930s

Hanging from a bracket in the public square is a SIGN announcingd69 The legend is topped by a portrait of one Chief laopogh and the words, "Once There Was Indians All Over This Place." The sign was the donation of Robert T. Sheldon, a resident of Valley Rd. ; Oakland people assert that the ungrammatical construction was insisted upon by Mr. Sheldon, who, they recall, "Oakland, Bergen County, N. J. Establishe 18." said it wasa quotation from some author." A SILK LABEL PLANT
