A short while ago there was a post of a home in Oakland with 'Valley View' above the door. The location of the house and the name of the owner were then a mystery. Well folks, I think that the mystery has been solved. The Valley View home was located on West Oakland Ave and was owned by the Taylor family. Below is a pic of the house taken in 1910 associated with a 1918 map of Oakland that depicts its exact location. How cool is that!
