

Recalling Dickerman's Daughter

Ron Romaine there was a woman who lived across the street from the station (not the house pictured) named Hazel Dickerman. she was John Dickermans daughter. She drove an Ox Cart & would pick up passengers from the train & take them down to the colony or to Pulis Grove to picnic for the day. They lived in a cabin near where Han's auto repair shop now stands. ( 231 West Oakland ave)
